I go this year, we beg leave to say that between this and the 1st of August will be the most favourable time to do so, it is your consideration.—We shall leave our old and well known stand about that time, and, wishing to reduce our stock as much as possible, for that purpose, will sell a first class Piano Forte, from $10 to $15 per cent, less than usual prices. It is generally known that our stock consists principally of Chickering's, Woodward & Brown's, low price; for we assure you such a chance as

the present may never again be offered.

GEORGETOWN COLLEGE,
KENTUCKY.

THIS Institution occupies a high rank
among Western Colleges. Its Library, Cabinet, Museum, and apparatus are unsurpassed. Its literary course is the same as that at Yale College, while its scientific course embraces all the best portions of the course of West Point.

For young men designed for practical business there is a course of three years in which a thorough knowledge is imparted in Agriculture, Chemistry, Physiology, Practice of Medicine, and Engineering. Principles of Commerce, and Book Keeping. In this practical feature the College is believed to be unequalled. Its high aim is to furnish American scholars, and American business men. The rapidly increasing number of Students in attendance is proof of its high rank and efficiency.

This work of learning is no mere experiment,
whose permanence is doubtful, and whose diploma is therefore of uncertain value. It is a position to exercise and maintain a whole some discipline without the fear of extinction; and to require of its students every thing scholarly and manly in their deportment.

It has brilliant arrangements adapted to all classes of students, and so adjusted as to avoid the dangers inseparable from the practice of crowding 150 or 200 young men into one building. Students for the ordinary can board for about $40 per College year.—

Others of known good moral character, and good family, can do so from $30 to $70; while those who prefer boarding in private families can do so from $10 to $100. No student is allowed to board in any family but such as the Faculty shall approve;
and a strict but kind supervision is exercised by the faculty over every student where-ever he may board.

The scholastic year is divided into two sessions. The first commences on the third Monday in September; the second, on the first Monday in February.

COMMENCEMENT DAY
Occurs on the last Thursday in June. Tuition $20 per session.

The annual catalogues may be had by application in the President, Rev. D. R. Campbell L. D. S. F. GANO.

CAN BE EFFECTUALLY CURED BY

DR. HOOLAND'S
CELEBRATED GERMAN BITTERS, PREPARED BY

DR. C. M. JACKSON,
No. 120 Arch street, Philadelphia.

Their power over the above diseases is not excelled, if equalled, by any other preparation in the United States, as the cure often in many cases over skilful physicians had failed.

These Bitters are worthy the attention of invalids. Possessing great virtues in the rectification of diseases of the Liver and lesser glands, exercising the most searching powers in weakness and affection of the digestive organs, they are, without, safe, cordial and pleasant.

READ AND BE CONVINCED.

H. W. Chaser, Millersburg, Ky., Oct. 16, 1852, said: "Having sold your Bitters some time, I find it has given satisfaction in every instance that has come under my notice."

Nelson & Edwards, Nelson, Ky., June 2d, 1851, said: "We rejoice to inform you that this justly celebrated medicine has fully maintained the exalted reputation which has been given it, and, having tested its virtues we undoubtedly say it is a perfect cure for
that horrid disease."

EDWARD BURTON, Commissioner of the Revenue, says he has seen the good effects of Carter's Spanish Mixture in a number of SYPHILITIC cases, & says it is a perfect cure for
that horrid disease.

WM. D. MATTHEWS, of Richmond, Va., had a servant患 of Syphilis, in the worst form, by Carter's Spanish Mixture. He says it is cheerfully recommended, and considers it an invaluable medicine.

RICHARD E. WEST, of Richmond, was cured of Scrofula, and what Physicians called confirmed Consumption, by three bottles of Carter's Spanish Mixture.

EDWARD BURTON, Commissioner of the Revenue, says he has seen the good effects of Carter's Spanish Mixture in a number of SYPHILITIC cases, & says it is a perfect cure for
that horrid disease.

W. M. WARD, of Richmond, Va., said:
"I have a servant患 of Old Sore and Ulcers, which disabled him from walking. Took a few bottles of Carter's Spanish Mixture, and was enabled to walk without a scratch, in a short time permanently."

J. T. & J. W. BERRY, Uniontown, Ky., July 21, 1852, said: "We have heard of many cures performed by the use of Dr. Hoolland's German Bitters, and believe it to be a valuable medicine."

J. Grant, Irvine, Ky., June 26, 1852, said:
"We have succeeded in introducing your Holland Bitters, physicians and others purchase-them by the half dozen and dozen."

Dr. P. PATIO & BRO., Kannawha, Tenn., April 9, 1851, said: "Your Bitters are now selling very fast, and every person that has used it, so far as we have been able to learn,
has been benefited."

These Bitters are ASSURINGLY VEGEATABLE, they invigorate and strengthen the system, never prostrate it, and can be used for infants as well as adults.

SKY-LIGHT
GALLERY OF ART!

S. T. BANCROFT,

HAS fixed up a POSTAGE GALLERY, two doors below his former studio. The visitors are especially invited to call and examine closely and critically the beauty that decorates his walls. Ladies you cannot shew your lovely faces to me without bringing your friends. All gentlemen who have a love for the beautiful are cordially invited to his Gallery. Mothers, would you have ever presented with you your darling children as they now appear? Get their portraits.
Children will have you your parents' portraits
as a rallying point around which the affections
can gather when time shall have effaced from your memory the brightness of your brother's smile, the approving looks of a loved father?—Get them painted. Young Wives will shew their husband's beauty like the flowers plucked and exposed to the sun, will wither and fade.
Husbands defer not too long the time that your wife shall sit for their portraits—it is so difficult to foretell the future. There is but little time to get a good portrait.

2. THE ATONEMENT is the Redemption and Salvation of Man. In the Incarnation, God was manifest in the flesh, in order that the Humanity might be glorified, the Divine Order established in Heaven, Earth, and Hell, and the Human Race delivered from the powers of darkness. The doctrine that God the Father was reconciled to man by the Death of God the Son, is a fallacy. See John 1: 14; Rom. v: 10, 11; 2 Cor. v: 18-21.

3. SAVING FAITH is to believe in the Redeemer Christ, and to keep His commandments. Man is not saved by faith alone, by charity alone, nor by works alone, but by the union of the three. For ALL RELIGION has relation to LIFE, and the life of religion is to live a good life.

WILL be permitted to serve a few fine Cows at twenty five dollars to ensure cow with calf.

Not more than ten cows can be received before the 1st of July, or his engagements are nearly complete up to that time.

In offering the services of this bull to the breeder of the blooded cattle, we invite their most critical attention to his pedigree, as being not unquesioned, certainly, unsurpassed in merit. I last tried Carter's Spanish Mixture, two bottles of which effectively cured me, and I am happy to say I have had no other Chills or Fevers since. I consider it the best tonic in the world, and the only medi-

JOHN LONGDEN,

The improved Yorkshire Hogs, THE BEST BREED FOR KENTUCKY.

The question is often asked and especially by strangers what is the best breed of hogs in Kentucky, and it seems at first a little surges that no satisfactory answer has been given to this inquiry. This question might be very properly met by another, (viz) what do you wish to do with them? The qualities and characteristics of a breed of hogs, in the vicinity of a large city, ought to be and are very different from those of cattle feeding districts, or in fact from those of all countries where an immediate market for every description of live stock is not available. In England where such a market always exists, the great majority of cattle and sheep breeders have to cultivate that sort of animals, which would produce the most flesh at the earliest age. The attempt has been made, and is now making, to apply this principle to breeds of hogs in Kentucky. But it really seems to me to have a very limited application to the wants of this portion of the state at least. Here we slaughter our hogs but once a year. And from the peculiar manner of feeding practised by our cattle breeders, those animals must necessarily be from fourteen to sixteen months old when killed; consequently the breed we should have, is not that which can be most thoroughly fattened at eight or even months old. But that which will give the largest return in flesh for its keep until the age at which they are usually slaughtered. The possession of such a breed by our cattle feeders is not merely a matter of taste, but almost a necessity, as a breed of hogs of such early maturity as to ripen in flesh before a market opens for them, would be not only an inconvenience but very expensive; moreover there is much doubt if animals having such a remarkable propensity to take on flesh when very young, possess the required hardiness to meet the exposure encountered by hogs which follow cattle.

The Yorkshire hog is a very happy medium between those short and small but highly improved breeds, and the large long legged, long nosed and long feeding animals that have now so generally overrun the country.

This breed was imported to the United States last winter by the Scott Co. Importing Company.

They are sometimes called in England the Liverpool whites, being uniformly of that color. They are distinguished by their extraordinary length of earthen as compared with the shortness of the legs; they are remarkably round and deep, with great width over the chine and along the back, their hides are soft and smooth, their ears thin and pendant, but not so drooping as the Woburn and some other of our large breeds. Their general appearance is one of remarkable symmetry combined with great size and vigor of constitution, and are the only breed used for packing purposes in the vicinity of Liverpool, Portsmouth and other large seaports. They certainly possess all the characteristics which indicate large size and rapid growth. The result of my own observation is full conviction that at the usual age for slaughtering, they will produce a greater quantity of such pork as is preferred by our packers than any breed whatever.

Having had a considerable experience with nearly all the old imitations of hogs, I can say with certainty that the cross of this breed upon my present stock has produced an improvement in them beyond all comparison, with any I have ever before been able to effect.

I shall probably exhibit some of them, at the fair at Lexington this fall, and will be very happy to show them at any time to persons interested in stock breeding, at my farm.

Capt. Craig's Speech.

Capt. NEWTON CRAIG addressed a large audience at the Court house on Friday night, and spoke some two hours in full exposition of his course in relation to Miss Delta Webster, and of the circumstances of the recent dastardly attempt upon his life at Madison, Ind. He explained how, during her imprisonment in the winter of 1844-5, he was induced to believe that she was an innocent and pious girl, and how in that belief he befriended her, and aided her by lending her money after she had been pardoned by the Governor and had come to reside at Madison; but he did not advise her pardon, but on the contrary opposed it, nor did he procure her return to the West. He explained also how he repudiated her and her friendship when he became convinced that she was false and wicked; and how he afterwards brought suit against her for money loaned, &c. He denied that he instigated or procured her recent arrest, that being the act of the people of Trimble county, through an agent appointed by them.

His attendance at Madison was in consequence of a request from the agent appointed to receive her under the requisition of the Governor of Kentucky, and for the sole purpose of proving her identity as the person imprisoned in the Penitentiary in 1844-5, should that question be raised by her counsel, as it was apprehended it would be. He denounced as utterly false the story that he drew two revolvers and two bowie knives from his pocket upon going to his room at the hotel, and laid them upon the table, with words of defiance against all Madison. He had no weapon with him but a bowie knife and that was in his carpet bag, which was lost in the bar. At the request of M. G. Bright, Esq., one of the counsel for the Commonwealth, he kept in his room as much as possible, and entirely avoided all irritating remarks or accusations.

Citizen,

Capt. C. denounced in strong terms Jos. Mayfield, Esq., one of Miss Webster's counsel, who, as he was reliably informed, exerted all his powers in his speech to inflame the crowd against Kentuckians, and at the conclusion of the trial the mob surrounded him, "Now let us give Craig hell!"

Captain C. was immediately notified that he had only two hours given him to leave town, or he would be killed. Friends called and urged him to cross to the Kentucky shore by the ferry boat. He told them his way home was by the mail boat. He was expected to four or five hours. When she came he would go on her, but no power on earth could compel him to go sooner, or in any other way. After a while the rabble, thieving for blood, had filled the bar-room. His only weapon was in his carpet bag in that room. He walked deliberately to among them, picked up his carpet bag, took it up stairs, and put on his knife. When the hour for the boat approached, he walked to the wharf, no one molesting him. Soon a crowd of hundreds came down. They began to boat a few Kentuckians; Captain Craig was about to rush to their aid, but a friend restrained him, saying it was all a plan to get him into the fight and kill him.

His friends urged him to go to another wharf boat, a few yards off. He started, but a fresh attack by ten or a dozen upon one Kentuckian was more than he could stand. He turned to rush in, but several strong men (afterwards found to be friends) seized him around the arms and dragged him away to the other boat. There he stood on the end of a gangway where he reached the boat, taking the mob of several hundred who stood on the shore, cursing him and threatening his life in the most outrageous and blasphemous manner. He told them they could kill him, but they could not drown him nor scare him. Some friends emerged from the crowd and shook hands with him. While talking with them, a large part of the crowd got on board the boat. It was full of people, but he was not molested. A steamboat came, (not the one he intended going on) and in landing struck the wharf boat so hard that it jarred all upon it, and produced a momentary commotion. At this instant he was shot in the back. He turned and saw the pistol lowered and the assassin dodge through the crowd.

The following are the circumstances, as given in the New York Times, by which Dr. Graham, of New Orleans, murdered Col. Loring, of California:

During the latter part of Tuesday, Dr. Graham, went on a "spree," and created serious disturbance in various parts of the hotel. One of these scenes took place in the bar-room. At a late hour of the night on Tuesday, the Doctor was induced to retire to his room, where he remained quietly until toward daylight. He then arose, and wanting some water to pull the bell of his own room, but it was out of order. He then went to ring the chambermaid's bell, in the hall very violently, and such a length of time that Col. Loring and his wife, (who was quite ill,) were unable to sleep.

The colonel finally requested Dr. Graham to desist in annoying them in that manner; but he paid no attention to the entreaties, and continued to ring this large bell with great rapidity. At last the patience of Mr. Loring became exhausted, and against the will of his wife, partially dressed himself, hastened down to the office and requested the officers of the hotel to remove the noisy man.

As he was ascending the first flight of stairs on his return to his room, he was met by Dr. Graham, who roughly exclaimed, "You are a liar," which insult the colonel at once resented by slapping his assailant's face with his open hand. The Doctor then raised a heavy sword cane, which the colonel caught by the sheath and jerked away, then leaving the blade and handle in the right hand of the culprit. The sudden jerk caused the old lady to turn partly around, and no sooner had he done so than Graham plunged the weapon into his victim's left side with great force, and in pulling it out he torn and twisted it with all the strength he was possessed of, and when he had pulled the sword out of the body it was bent in a circular form. The dirk entered the heart and lungs of Col. Loring, and he staggered and fell to the floor lifeless.

The murderer took it all very calmly and even went to the "pitcher pantry" and tried to conceal the instrument of death under some rubbish. He was secured through the exertions of Charles M. Rogers, Esq., and others of the hotel.

We rejoice, with our fellow-citizens generally at this change, and hope that no dissatisfaction against the Department will be hereafter expressed. The blame never should have rested there.

Much credit is due to our faithful and intrepid Representative, Hon. JOHN C. BRECKENRIDGE, for his promptness in bringing the matter before the Department in the true light. No sooner was he advised of the disadvantages resulting from withdrawal of the daily service upon this route, than he went to work and never relaxed his efforts until he had the final order of things restored. Such a Representative is worth having, and it will long before the 8th district will find a man more eminently qualified to the duties imposed upon him. No district in the United States is more ably represented in Congress than the 8th district of Kentucky, and our people are truly proud of their man.—Flag.

FRUITFUL CASUALTY.—On Monday last, Mr. Hubbard W. Varnon, of this county, was in the stable currying his imported bull Javelin. Wishing the bull to change his position, he struck him two or three times with a cowhide, when the animal became enraged and sprang at him, bronzing the halter with which he was tied, and throwing Mr. Varnon upon the floor near the wall. The bull then fell upon Mr. Varnon's chest with his knees and attempted to gore him to death, and was prevented from doing so only by the protection afforded by the wall of the stable. Some negroes working near heard the noise, and running to the assistance of their master, succeeded with much difficulty in beating the enraged beast off.

Mr. Varnon was badly hurt, but we are glad to learn is now recovering. His collar bone and one or more ribs were broken, and his breast was very much bruised. It was feared that he had received serious internal injury, but it is now hoped that such was not the case.

Citizen,

It is singular what an extraordinary change public opinion (which means the opinion of a few individuals who happen to occupy public positions) has undergone recently with regard to the true merits of the Wm. Ward case. Our esteemed contemporary, the editor of the Georgetown Herald, who once expressed the opinion that the murderer of Butler was a "foul and atrocious crime," has suddenly become convinced that it was only an "unpremeditated crime—manslaughter—even if he was not justly entitled to acquittal by an honest and conscientious jury, on the plea of justifiable homicide." Several of those honest jurors, by the way, have since been indicted for perjury; and the probability is, that eleven of the twelve will yet find themselves in a similar predicament.) From a hasty perusal of the Herald's article, we were unable to ascertain clearly, the reasons which had caused this extraordinary change of opinion on the part of the editor; but we intend to examine it more attentively hereafter, and perhaps we may yet be able, with the aid of our Georgetown friend, to convince somebody that murder is not murder, when committed by a young gentleman who is very wealthy, rather sickly, and somewhat weak in the legs.

Particulars of the Murder at St. Nicholas Hotel.

The following are the circumstances, as given in the New York Times, by which Dr. Graham, of New Orleans, murdered Col. Loring, of California:

During the latter part of Tuesday, Dr. Graham, went on a "spree," and created serious disturbance in various parts of the hotel. One of these scenes took place in the bar-room. At a late hour of the night on Tuesday, the Doctor was induced to retire to his room, where he remained quietly until toward daylight. He then arose, and wanting some water to pull the bell of his own room, but it was out of order. He then went to ring the chambermaid's bell, in the hall very violently, and such a length of time that Col. Loring and his wife, (who was quite ill,) were unable to sleep.

The colonel finally requested Dr. Graham to desist in annoying them in that manner; but he paid no attention to the entreaties, and continued to ring this large bell with great rapidity. At last the patience of Mr. Loring became exhausted, and against the will of his wife, partially dressed himself, hastened down to the office and requested the officers of the hotel to remove the noisy man.

As he was ascending the first flight of stairs on his return to his room, he was met by Dr. Graham, who roughly exclaimed, "You are a liar," which insult the colonel at once resented by slapping his assailant's face with his open hand. The Doctor then raised a heavy sword cane, which the colonel caught by the sheath and jerked away, then leaving the blade and handle in the right hand of the culprit. The sudden jerk caused the old lady to turn partly around, and no sooner had he done so than Graham plunged the weapon into his victim's left side with great force, and in pulling it out he torn and twisted it with all the strength he was possessed of, and when he had pulled the sword out of the body it was bent in a circular form. The dirk entered the heart and lungs of Col. Loring, and he staggered and fell to the floor lifeless.

The murderer took it all very calmly and even went to the "pitcher pantry" and tried to conceal the instrument of death under some rubbish. He was secured through the exertions of Charles M. Rogers, Esq., and others of the hotel.

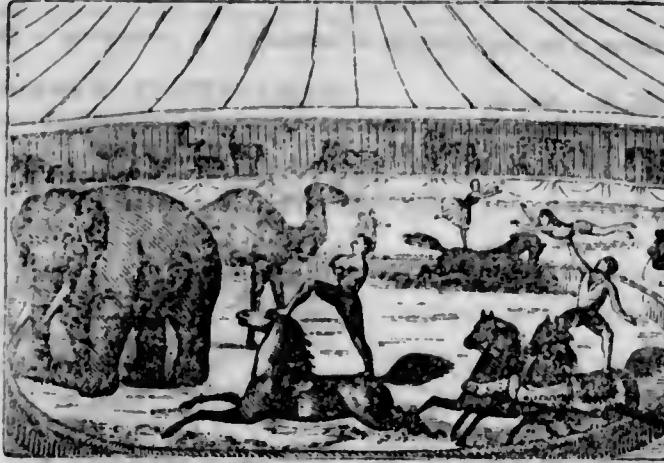

In 1850, a trial took place in Connecticut, under the section of the Blue Laws prohibiting kissing. The offenders were Sarah Trotter and Jacob Newton. It appears that Sarah dropped her gloves, and Jacob found them. When Sarah asked for them, Jacob demanded a kiss for his pay, and as the demand did not seem extravagant, she adjusted it for himself. The facts were clearly proved, and the parties were each fined twenty shillings.

Q.—A female member of Dr. S.'s Church, having safely passed through her nineteenth confinement, her husband sent the Rev. Dr. following note to be read before the congregation: "Mrs. A. having been safely delivered of her nineteenth child, she with her husband, would return hearty and unfeigned thanks to the Almighty God for his great favor, and humbly ask for a continuance of his blessings."

HOW TO CATCH A YANKEE.—A letter from Whitehead, in Kansas' Territory dated 1st inst., to the New York Herald, says:

The amount of immigration in the way of men and cattle is surprising. Thousands and thousands are pouring in from all portions of the Union, but more especially from Missouri, Kentucky, and Tennessee. It seems to be a purpose preface to have it a slave State. There is a story abroad, that at all the fords over the Missouri River they have a cow tied and a committee to watch all immigrants. The committee ask of each immigrant what animal that is. If he says "A Cow" all well—he goes over. But if he answers, "A cow," they turn him back.

VENI VIDI VICTUS!

PULVERMACHER'S Hydro-Electric Voltaic Chains!

ARE for the first time, presented to the people of Georgetown and vicinity, as a new, scientific and convenient mode of applying Electro-Magnetism, in the instant relief and permanent cure of all nervous diseases Rheumatism, Palpitation of Heart, Pains & Swell'd Joints, Rheum., pains of chest, Neuralgia of the Face, Female Diseases, Densities, Blindness, General Debility, Dyspepsia, Flatulence, Contracted Limbs, Pain in the Back, Paroxysm, Sciatica, History.—Pulvermacher's Chains were first introduced into this country about one year since, in the City of New York, where they were subjected to the most rigid and thorough trial in every hospital in that city, by Professors Valentine Mott, Van Buren, Post, C. Norton who at once discovered that they possessed strange and wonderful power in almost instantly relieving all nervous pains wherever located; and as satisfactory were the results produced, in every case, that their opinions were published through the public press, and thousands have been induced to try them, and in no single instance have they failed to perform all we advertise to day. They are patented in France, England, Germany, Austria and Belgium, and are in use in every hospital in Europe, and also in every hospital of N. Y. City.

No other Medical Agent can produce so many well Authenticated Certificates of cure—not only from intelligent patients, but from Scientific Physicians, & their associates wherever introduced have been unparalleled.

The chains are so constructed as to be worn near the skin, producing a constant current of Electro Magnetism—can be used by either adults or children never get out of temper, and proper care will last for years.

Price of Chains, $3 and $5, and can be sent by mail to any part of the country. A pamphlet of 36 pages always accompanies each chain, and can be had of any agent, gratis.

CAUTION TO LADIES.—Ladies who are anxious are requested not to use them for a great length of time only for a few moments; for by continued use, miscarriage is frequently produced. For Uterine Pains, one end of the chain is to be applied over the abdomen, and the other upon the spine, just above the hips.

The second number of the West American Monthly, formerly the Parlor Magazine is received. This valuable publication is much improved, both in appearance and contents, and it is now the aim of its proprietors to make it a fair representative of West American Literature, sentiment and execution in the typographical art and as they have recently refuted their establishment entirely, they are now in a favorable position to redeem their promise to the public, of producing a magazine that will deservedly rival the issue from any press in the country. Terms invariably in advance $2. Address Jethro Jackson & Co., 103 Walnut street Cincinnati, Ohio.

We take pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of Arthur's Magazine for August. Our fondness for the presence of this periodical in our reading room, and our conviction that it is decidedly one of the most worthy of our knowledge might induce us to say much in its favor, if we were not aware that its own celebrity, is powerful enough to secure its merited patronage. No one claiming a refined literary taste, should neglect to add Arthur's Magazine to his library, and no one so claiming can ever regret the favor so bestowed. Terms one copy for 1 year $2; 2 copies one year $3; 3 copies one year $4; 4 copies one year $5. Six months subscriptions ask at half these rates. Address T. S. Arthur & Co., 107 Walnut street, Philadelphia.

The wide-spread and well established name of Blackwood, renders it unnecessary that we should add anything to secure its patronage. Our readers should be reminded, that as new volumes of the Magazine and the four Reviews commence with the last number of Blackwood, this is a favorable time for subscriptions. Price for Blackwood one year $3; Blackwood and one Review $5; Blackwood and four Reviews $10. Address Leonard Scott & Co., 79 Fulton street, Entrance 64 Gold street, N. Y.

The LADY'S CHRISTIAN ANNUAL, a very neat and cheap octavo sized magazine, designed especially for the ladies but entertaining and suitable for all, is published monthly by James Challen, Philadelphia.

The Annual contains for each month 32 pages, well printed on excellent paper, and if bound at the end of the year makes a volume of about 400 pages.

Georgetown Female Institute.
The 4th session of this valuable Institution of learning commences on Monday the 5th inst., with a competent corps of teachers, and every provision requisite for the proper and agreeable training of the youthful female mind; the acquisition of a thorough English and ornamental education. The building occupied by Mr. Hand is admirably located in a private and pleasant part of the town; surrounded with ample ground for the accommodation of the pupils in their hours of relaxation; and every thing connected with this flourishing Institution is conducted in a manner to secure the present and permanent welfare of the pupils entrusted to the parental care and government of Mr. and Mrs. Hand. In view of these and other facts not enumerated, we can cordially recommend this Institution to parents and guardians who have daughters or wards to educate. For terms, &c., see advertisement for number.

By the receipt and examination of a newly established periodical, the 'United States Magazine,' we have an opportunity of introducing to the public an issue that fairly promises to excel many of its rivals.

Its contents are varied, and well selected and arranged, and it appears to be efficiently edited, of more than ordinary size and devoted mainly to Science, Art, Manufactures, Agriculture, Commerce and Trade. Published monthly by A. Jones & Co., 1, 3, 5 and 7 Spring street, New York. Terms only $1 per annum. Pamphlets sent (post free) for 6 cents per number.

The ELECTRIC MEDICAL JOURNAL can be obtained by addressing Dr. R. S. Newton, corner of College and South streets, Cincinnati, Ohio. Terms $2 in advance.

We have received the first and second parts of a book by John Smith, entitled "Fruits and Fervescin," designed to prove from History, Anatomy, Physiology and Chemistry that fruit and vegetables are the originally designed, and therefore the best food for man.

Judging from the parts received this will probably be work of interest and information, and as such should be patronized and appreciated by the public. It will be sent (post paid) complete in one volume, handsomely bound for $1.25. Address, post paid, Fowler & Wells, 308 Broadway, New York.

Our friend Trimble advertises the public that he is prepared to accommodate them with anything in his line of business from vegetable tonics up to ideal conveyers, alias superior tang! the virtues of which we have tried, and find all that he represents it to be, as this paragraph bears witness. Note advertisements and give him a call.

In Franklin, Herndon is judge; Renick, County Clerk; Morris, Sheriff; Major, County Attorney; Brawner, Jailer; Smither, Assessor; Graham, Coroners; Graham, Surveyor; Pratt, Consistorial. The road tax has been carried.

Capt. Newton Craig was in town on Monday last, and proposed to give our citizens a statement with reference to the Madison outrage; owing to the fact, however, that he is still suffering from the wound received, he was dissuaded from doing so by his professional friends. On next County Court day the Captain will be here and give a full statement of the facts, showing the dastardly efforts of the Abolitionists of Madison to overawe and over power, and their utter disregard of that comity of feeling which should exist between sister states of the same confederacy.

We clip from the Commonwealth a condensed account of Capt. Craig's statement at the Court House in Frankfort; so far as it goes, the account is correct but it is not as full as it should be; we understand that a full report, sustained by documentary evidence will shortly be laid before the public through the columns of the Louisville Journal.

We are gratified to find that the health of the Capt. is not materially affected by the dastardly attempt made upon his life by the cowardly assassin who shot him in the back; and that although still suffering from what threatened to be a vital wound, there is all probability of his health being fully restored in time.

Grand Prize Ball

The great ball of the season comes off at the Capitol Hotel, Frankfort, on Tuesday the 15th last, under the general superintendence and for the benefit of Col. De Korponay, a gallant Hungarian gentleman, who distinguished himself, fighting gallantly on the fields of Mexico, for the rights and honor of his adopted country. Col. Du Korponay has been very successful in teaching in Frankfort, Lexington, Louisville, &c., and at the approaching ball 12 prizes are to be distributed to those of his male and female pupils who display the greatest ease and grace in the use of their pedal extremities. The occasion will doubtless call together at the capitol of the state, a very brilliant assemblage of both sexes; and as no expense or trouble will be spared by the Col. to give eclat to the affair, varieties of fashion should not fail to make their appearance at the time and place appointed. By so doing they will not only enjoy a delightful evening's amusement, but bid a very estimable generation, who, in times past, has done good service in the cause of freedom and the inalienable rights of man.

On behalf and in the name of a majority of the independent freemen of Scott county, who have signalized rebuked fanaticism in the recent election, we throw back and repudiate with the contempt and scorn it so richly merits, the foul, false and slanderous cognomen of "whiskey boys," so glibly applied to the "boon and sinew" of the town and county who have so nobly and so efficiently maintained Judge Finnell's decisions versus the pragmatik Maine law advocates, who would vainly attempt to dictate to the independent freemen of old Scott "what they should eat, and what they should drink, and wherewithal they should be clothed!" One thing has been clearly shown in this contest; and that is, that "whiskey boys," as the voters of Scott are insultingly denominated by certain fanatical Maine law advocates, are individually and collectively, ever more than match for "milk and cider" boys!

On behalf and in the name of a majority of the independent freemen of Scott county, who have signalized rebuked fanaticism in the recent election, we throw back and repudiate with the contempt and scorn it so richly merits, the foul, false and slanderous cognomen of "whiskey boys," so glibly applied to the "boon and sinew" of the town and county who have so nobly and so efficiently maintained Judge Finnell's decisions versus the pragmatik Maine law advocates, who would vainly attempt to dictate to the independent freemen of old Scott "what they should eat, and what they should drink, and wherewithal they should be clothed!" One thing has been clearly shown in this contest; and that is, that "whiskey boys," as the voters of Scott are insultingly denominated by certain fanatical Maine law advocates, are individually and collectively, ever more than match for "milk and cider" boys!

We congratulate our fellow citizens of the town, upon the election of Judge Shepard over his fanatical competitor; who, dressed in a little brief authority, played such fantastic tricks before high heaven as o'er'nado's freemen, worse the day when they had invested him with power to decide upon their relative rights. One thing is certain wh reference to Judge Shepard; his decisions will be governed by a knowledge of the law and a conscientious regard for justice; and if we are again sent to prison for refusing to become an informer, we will respectfully submit, because we will know that we are not incarcerated by a judicial ignoramus, because oftoe's idea'd fanaticism or the dictation of a clique of puritans who look upon poor men, and those who differ from them in opinion as altogether unworthy even of the common courtesies of life.

We make these remarks for the bene fit of those beligerent son combatants who have talked of inflicting condign punishment on us, for holding up their arms, as they justly deserve, to public reprobation. If there be any upon whom the cap fits, let them "leather tol!" Those who boast of their personal prowess should be prepared to carry out their boasts.

The "milk and cider" boys" asked for an issue, and the "whiskey boys" gave it to them. Though many of the former voted against their known principles and better judgment, the jolly "whiskey boys," triumphed in the election of Judge Shepard by 13 majority! When will freemen be imprisoned again in the common jail for refusing to become informers?

Under the ministrations of elders Gano and Rogers, over thirty persons have joined the Christian Church in Millersburg.

The Election

On Monday last, in town, passed off very quietly in view of the number of "whisky boys" engaged in piling up a gory upon the backs of the cold blooded "milk and cider" boys. Not a fight of a serious character took place during the day; several little skirmishes amounting to little nothing occurred, and a seedy negro had to be tied up by the marshal according to law; but otherwise peaceful and pleasant feelings seemed to be the order of the day and night. During the evening the Georgians, Goonds paraded in full uniform, marched round the town with martial music sounding in their progress various successful candidates for county officers. We are unable to furnish full returns this week for the county but the officers elect are,

Judge.—Ben Finnell; Sheriff.—W. T. V. Bradford; Jailer.—George Toppas; Assessor.—J. T. Griffith; Surveyor.—J. M. Ewing; Attorney.—W. S. Durbin; County Clerk.—L. H. Dickerson; Coroner.—Reason Sowards.

The town officers elect are J. M. Shepard, Judge; Mort. Price, Marshal. The subscription to the South Elkhorn road is carried by 10 to 55.

In Justice to Judge Finnell, whose supporters have been slanderously styled "Whisky boys," and other opprobrious titles, we must assure readers at home and abroad, that Judge Finnell so far from being a frequenter of taverns, is a strict temperance man, by practice and precept; his decisions on the liquor question, which set aside the tyrannical action of the police judge, were based upon high principles; a correct sense of justice between man and man, uninfluenced by party fanaticism or bigoted prejudice. Whatever his ardent and whole souled supporters may be slanderously styled, certainly Judge Finnell cannot be designated as a "Whisky boy!"

Hol hol! The "Whisky Boys," it would soon from the result of the election on Monday are neither "whipped" nor bare "they got a pretty good drubbing!" This peurle boast of those who in fanatical paroxysm styled the supporters of Judge Finnell, "whisky boys," has met with its merit rebuke at the hands of the freeman of Scott county, who by an overwhelming majority have re-elected Judge Finnell to the post from which he would have been hurled, nay, even vi et armis, if it had been in the power of a fanatical few, temperance men, who flattered themselves that he was to be intimidated from the discharge of duty by intemperate and silly threats of "Jack in the Spring finnch!"

On behalf and in the name of a majority of the independent freemen of Scott county, who have signalized rebuked fanaticism in the recent election, we throw back and repudiate with the contempt and scorn it so richly merits, the foul, false and slanderous cognomen of "whiskey boys," so glibly applied to the "boon and sinew" of the town and county who have so nobly and so efficiently maintained Judge Finnell's decisions versus the pragmatik Maine law advocates, who would vainly attempt to dictate to the independent freemen of old Scott "what they should eat, and what they should drink, and wherewithal they should be clothed!" One thing has been clearly shown in this contest; and that is, that "whiskey boys," as the voters of Scott are insultingly denominated by certain fanatical Maine law advocates, are individually and collectively, ever more than match for "milk and cider" boys!

The case of Mr. T. H. Remsey seems to satisfy any who doubt. Call on the Agent and procure a pamphlet containing cures, which will estrange you.
